THE LEGEND IS REBORN

Kinetic Engineering's legacy is inseparable from India's mobility story - from the Luna that put a nation on two wheels to the DX that redefined convenience.

After decades of engineering excellence in the manufacture of components, the Company has completed the circle with the launch of the allelectric Kinetic DX.

As the auto component business in KEL matures, the subsidiary company Kinetic Watts & Volts stunned the market recently by launching an all-new electric scooter - the Kinetic DX!

Blending timeless design with next-generation technology, advanced LFP batteries, regenerative braking, unique convenience features, digital intelligence, and a robust metal body the DX is both, nostalgia and reinvention.

It marks not just a return to vehicle manufacturing, but a confident stride into India's electric future.

THE LEGEND LIVES AGAIN, REBORN IN AN ELECTRIFYING AVATAAR.

FROM LEGACY TO LEADERSHIP IN ELECTRIC MOBILITY

For over five decades, Kinetic Engineering has been synonymous with innovation in Indian mobility from the iconic Kinetic Luna to pioneering gearless scooters that transformed urban commuting. Guided by the vision of the Late H.K. Firodia, we have continually evolved to stay ahead of industry change.

After a gap of some years from direct vehicle manufacture, our company has returned from back-end components manufacture to front-end personal mobility, leveraging our deep automotive expertise to power an electric mobility future.

During the last few years, we prepared for this by transition from conventional vehicle manufacture to becoming a trusted leader in EV components, producing transmissions, axles, and chassis for electric two- and three-wheelers. Our strategic focus now extends to motors, controllers, and battery packs, strengthening India's self-reliance in clean mobility technology.

This is now a time for forward integration. We are extending our capabilities from the manufacture of components to complete electric vehicles, starting with the two-wheeler segment, the gateway to personal mobility in India. With EV adoption accelerating, we see the perfect alignment between our engineering strengths and market opportunity.

The Kinetic story has always been about moving people forward. The road ahead will be written in electric blue - bold, innovative, and transformative.

KINETIC DX: THE RIGHT MOVE AT THE RIGHT TIME

The launch of Kinetic DX marks more than the return of a legendary name—it signals Kinetic Engineering's decisive entry into a new era of mobility.

At a time when the global automobile industry is undergoing its most profound transformation in a century, the DX positions us at the intersection of heritage, innovation, and opportunity.

The world is turning electric. In India, the EV two-wheeler segment—already growing at double digits—is projected to expand its market share from 6–7% of the two-wheeler segment to 20–25% by FY 2029–30.

Rising fuel prices, supportive government policies, and rapid advancements in battery and charging technology are accelerating EV adoption. Yet, the market remains fragmented, with space for credible, quality-led brands to lead.

This is where the Kinetic DX comes in. It combines advanced and long-lasting LFP battery technology with segment-first features like K-Coast regenerative braking, the Telekinetic app, My Kiney Companion voice alerts, and a dedicated button to call our CRM (Kinetic Assist). Built on a durable metal body—a rarity in today's market—the DX offers reliability, safety, and longevity for discerning customers.

Backed by our vertically integrated manufacturing, in-house intellectual property for critical EV components, and a growing dealer-service network, we can deliver quality at scale while controlling cost and innovation cycles as we move to create an exclusive nationwide sales and service network.

The DX, then, is not just a product; it is a statement. It says that Kinetic Engineering has the right technology, the right positioning, and the right vision at exactly the moment the world is ready for it.

The legendary Kinetic DX that changed the way India looked at transportation is reborn & back to the future! The electric future is here, and we are ready to lead it.

CHAIRMAN'S MESSAGE

A LEGACY THAT CONTINUES TO EVOLVE

Padmashri Dr. Arun Firodia

Chairman
Kinetic Group

As I look back on the year gone by, I am reminded that the strength of an institution is not measured only by the businesses it operates today, but by its ability to recognise what tomorrow demands and prepare for it with conviction.

For more than five decades, Kinetic has been part of India's industrial and mobility story. We have witnessed the country move from a developing economy to one of the world's fastest-growing major economies. We have seen technologies, consumer aspirations and industries transform, often at a remarkable pace. Through these changes, one principle has remained constant at Kinetic: we must continue to evolve. The year under review has therefore been one of consolidation, transformation and preparation. Across the Group, we have continued to strengthen our existing businesses while laying the groundwork for opportunities that we believe will shape the next phase of Indian industry.

Looking Beyond the Present

India today is at an important inflection point. The country is investing heavily in manufacturing, infrastructure, technology and energy transition. Supply chains are being reconfigured, businesses are seeking greater resilience and localisation is becoming increasingly important. At the same time, the transition towards cleaner forms of mobility is creating an entirely new industrial ecosystem. These changes create a particularly relevant opportunity for a Group such as Kinetic. Our history has given us experience across mobility, engineering and manufacturing. Our present is giving us the opportunity to apply that experience to new technologies and new markets. We therefore see the current transformation not simply as a shift from one technology to another, but as an opportunity to rethink how we build businesses for the next generation.

From Experience to Capability

One of our priorities has been to ensure that Kinetic's long-standing engineering and manufacturing experience remains relevant in a rapidly changing industrial environment. We are increasingly focused on building capabilities rather than relying solely on individual products or programmes. This means investing in technology, improving processes, developing people and creating manufacturing capabilities that can serve multiple opportunities over the long term.

This approach is particularly important at a time when the automotive industry is undergoing significant structural change.

Electrification, electronics, connectivity, automation and advanced manufacturing are changing the nature of vehicles and their underlying supply chains. We believe Kinetic can participate in this transformation by bringing together its engineering heritage with new capabilities.

Creating Businesses for the Long Term

Our approach to growth remains disciplined. We are not pursuing opportunities simply because they are fashionable or because they represent short-term market potential. We are looking for businesses where Kinetic can develop a genuine competitive advantage and create sustainable value over time.

This philosophy has guided our investments across the Group. Whether it is mobility, automotive engineering, components, energy, batteries, technology or other emerging opportunities, our objective is to develop businesses with sound fundamentals and the ability to grow with the Indian economy.

We also recognise that growth must be accompanied by operational discipline. Improving productivity, managing costs, optimising resources and strengthening cash generation will remain important priorities across the Group.

Building Resilience

The past few years have demonstrated how quickly external events can affect businesses. Geopolitical developments, commodity prices, energy costs, supply-chain disruptions and changing global trade dynamics have reinforced the importance of building resilient operations.

At Kinetic, we are therefore increasingly focused on reducing vulnerabilities within our businesses while improving efficiency and resource utilisation. Our investments in renewable energy, manufacturing technology, localisation and internal capabilities form part of this broader philosophy. For us, resilience is not simply about managing uncertainty. It is about building businesses that can continue to create value despite it.

Innovation with Purpose

Innovation has always been part of Kinetic's DNA. But innovation today means more than developing a new product. It encompasses how we manufacture, how we use energy, how we connect with customers, how we use technology and how we create more efficient business models. Our focus will therefore remain on practical innovation, technology that improves products, processes, efficiency and customer experiences. We believe that the most valuable innovations are those that eventually become part of everyday life. This philosophy will continue to guide our approach as we build capabilities for the future.

The Importance of People

No transformation is possible without the people who drive it. As Kinetic evolves, our people are taking on new technologies, new responsibilities and new ways of working. We must continue to create an environment where talent can grow, ideas can be challenged, and individuals are encouraged to take ownership.

Our employees bring together decades of institutional knowledge and the energy of a new generation. This combination is one of our greatest strengths. I would like to thank every member of the Kinetic family for their commitment and contribution during the year.

I would also like to express my appreciation to our customers, dealers, suppliers, partners, investors and other stakeholders whose continued trust has supported our journey.

Preserving the Spirit of Entrepreneurship

Kinetic was built by taking calculated risks at moments when others were willing to wait. That entrepreneurial spirit remains relevant today. The opportunities before India are large, but they will require businesses that are willing to invest, experiment, and build patiently. We intend to retain that spirit while becoming increasingly disciplined in how we allocate capital and execute our plans.

Our ambition is not to recreate the Kinetic of the past. Our ambition is to build a Kinetic that is relevant to the India of the future.

Looking Ahead

The coming years will bring significant change across the industries in which we operate.

We expect mobility to become increasingly electric and connected. Manufacturing will become more automated and technology-led. Global supply chains will continue to seek reliable and competitive partners.

Energy efficiency and sustainability will become increasingly important considerations for businesses. These trends align closely with the capabilities we are developing across the Group.

We approach the future with optimism, but also with realism. We know that building successful businesses takes time. We know that transformation comes with challenges. And we know that the scale of the opportunity must be matched by the quality of execution. Our focus will therefore remain clear:

Our focus will therefore remain clear:

Build with purpose.

Invest for the long term.

Strengthen what we have.

And create what comes next.

The Kinetic story has always been about movement, not only the movement of people, but the movement of ideas, technology and ambition. As we enter the next chapter, our responsibility is to ensure that this movement continues. I am confident that with the strength of our people, the capabilities we are building and the opportunities emerging around us, Kinetic is well positioned to create a stronger and more sustainable future.

Padmashri Dr. Arun Firodia

Kinetic Group

VICE CHAIRMAN & MANAGING DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Transforming Ambition into Execution

The year under review has been one of meaningful progress for the Kinetic Group. As we look ahead, I believe we are entering a period that can fundamentally reshape the Group. The opportunity before us is not simply to grow existing businesses, but to build new capabilities, enter emerging areas and create an organisation that is equipped for the next decade of Indian industry.

For me, the central theme of our journey is transformation through execution. We have spent considerable time strengthening the foundations of our businesses, identifying areas where Kinetic can create differentiated value and investing in capabilities that can support sustainable growth. The next phase is about converting these foundations into scale.

India Creates a Unique Opportunity

The India of today is very different from the India in which Kinetic built its early success. The country is now one of the world's largest and fastest-growing major economies. Manufacturing is becoming increasingly strategic, domestic supply chains are gaining importance and Indian companies are increasingly participating in global programmes.

At the same time, mobility is undergoing one of its most significant transformations in decades.

Mr. Ajinkya Firodia

Vice Chairman & Managing Director

Kinetic Engineering Ltd. & Kinetic Watts & Volts Ltd.

Electrification, connected technologies, energy transition, automation and localisation are changing the automotive industry at an unprecedented pace. We believe this environment creates a strong opportunity for Kinetic. Our historical strengths in mobility and engineering give us a foundation. Our investments in new technologies and capabilities give us the opportunity to build on that foundation.

From Legacy to New-Age Mobility

Electric mobility represents one of the most important areas of our future. However, our ambition is broader than simply participating in the electric vehicle market. We want to build capabilities across the electric mobility value chain, from vehicles and components to batteries, technology, manufacturing and supporting ecosystems. This approach allows us to look at electric mobility as an industrial opportunity rather than only as a product category. The return of the Kinetic brand to the electric two-wheeler market is an important part of this strategy. At the same time, our work in battery technology and manufacturing is helping us develop capabilities that can support a broader range of mobility applications. Our objective is to progressively build an ecosystem that gives Kinetic greater control over critical technologies and creates opportunities to serve both our own businesses and external customers.

Engineering Remains at the Core

While electric mobility represents a significant growth opportunity, engineering will continue to be at the heart of Kinetic. Our automotive component and engineering businesses provide us with an important platform from which to participate in the transformation taking place across the global automotive industry. We are focused on moving towards higher-value manufacturing, greater automation, stronger process capabilities and deeper participation in global supply chains. The objective is not simply to increase manufacturing capacity. It is to develop capabilities that make Kinetic a more competitive, reliable and technology-oriented partner for automotive customers. We see significant opportunities in areas where our engineering capabilities can intersect with the evolving requirements of global vehicle manufacturers and component suppliers.

Building for Efficiency

Growth without operational discipline is not sustainable. As we expand, we remain focused on improving productivity, reducing avoidable costs, optimising working capital and making better use of our assets and resources. Energy efficiency is an important part of this approach. Our investments in renewable energy and the progressive electrification of manufacturing processes are intended not only to support our sustainability objectives, but also to improve the economics and resilience of our operations. We will continue to evaluate every part of our manufacturing footprint with the objective of making our businesses more efficient and competitive.

Technology as an Enabler

Technology will increasingly determine which businesses succeed in the next phase of industrial growth. At Kinetic, we are therefore investing in technology not as an end in itself, but as an enabler of better products, better processes and better customer experiences. Automation, connected mobility, digital systems, advanced manufacturing and data-driven decision-making will increasingly become part of the way we operate. Our focus will be on identifying technologies that can deliver measurable improvements and integrating them into our businesses in a practical and scalable manner.

Building Businesses, Not Just Products

One of the most important lessons from our journey is that a successful product is only one part of a successful business. A sustainable business requires the right technology, manufacturing capabilities, distribution network, service infrastructure, talent, financial discipline and customer relationships. This is particularly relevant in new businesses. As we build our electric mobility operations, our objective is therefore to develop the entire ecosystem around the product. Similarly, as we expand our engineering and manufacturing businesses, we are focused on building long-term customer relationships rather than pursuing transactional opportunities. This approach requires patience, but we believe it creates stronger businesses over time.

The Next Phase of Growth Our People and Culture

The next phase of Kinetic will be defined by scale and execution. We have identified several areas where we believe the Group can create meaningful value. The task now is to execute these opportunities with speed, discipline and financial prudence. Our priorities will remain centred around:

- Building scale in electric mobility
- Strengthening automotive engineering and component manufacturing
- Developing battery and energy capabilities
- Increasing manufacturing efficiency and automation
- Expanding participation in global automotive supply chains
- Building stronger technology and innovation capabilities
- Improving operational and financial discipline
- Developing the talent required for our next phase of growth

We will continue to be selective in how we deploy capital, focusing on businesses where we have a clear right to win and where investments can generate sustainable returns.

Transformation also requires a transformation in mindset. We need an organisation that is entrepreneurial enough to pursue opportunities, disciplined enough to execute them and agile enough to respond when circumstances change. Our people are central to this. We are building teams that combine Kinetic's institutional knowledge with new capabilities in technology, engineering, digitalisation and modern management practices. I would like to thank every member of the Kinetic team for their commitment and contribution during the year. I also thank our customers, dealers, suppliers, partners, investors and other stakeholders for their continued trust and support.

Looking Ahead with Confidence

The opportunity before Kinetic today is significantly larger than the opportunity we had a decade ago. India's growth, the transformation of mobility, the evolution of manufacturing and the increasing integration of technology are creating new spaces for businesses with engineering capabilities and entrepreneurial ambition. We intend to participate in this transformation with a clear sense of purpose. We will respect the legacy that brought us here, but we will not allow that legacy to limit what we can become. Our focus is on building a Kinetic that is more technology-driven, more efficient, more globally connected and more capable of creating sustainable value. The journey will not always be linear. There will be challenges, investments that take time to mature and markets that will test our ability to adapt. But I believe that the foundations we are building today give us the confidence to take on those challenges. The next chapter of Kinetic will not be defined by what we have inherited.

It will be defined by what we choose to build.

Mr. Ajinkya Firodia
Vice Chairman & Managing Director

Kinetic Engineering Ltd. & Kinetic Watts & Volts Ltd.

KINETIC ENGINEERING LIMITED

KEY BUSINESS DEVELOPMENTS ROBOTIC CHASSIS MANUFACTURING

Kinetic Engineering Limited continued to strengthen its manufacturing capabilities through the adoption of advanced automation and precision manufacturing processes.

The Company developed a scooter chassis manufacturing process using robotic welding, rotary welding fixtures and CNC tube-bending technology. The integration of these technologies has enhanced dimensional accuracy, consistency and process quality across chassis production. The use of robotic welding has also helped address process variations and eliminate issues associated with missed or inconsistent welds. The robotic welding systems deployed by KEL are supplied by Panasonic, a global leader in industrial robotic welding solutions. The adoption of automated welding and CNC bending represents an important step in KEL's ongoing efforts to improve manufacturing precision, process reliability and production consistency.

New Business Growth

KEL continued to expand its customer portfolio and pursue new business opportunities across domestic and international markets.

During the year, the Company secured a shaft input C2 order from a prestigious European customer. The same programme is expected to provide opportunities for business from Mexico and the USA, with the overall opportunity estimated to contribute approximately ₹50–60 crore in revenue.

KEL is also in advanced discussions with American Axle & Manufacturing (AAM) for multiple RFQs, with technical discussions substantially progressed. These engagements represent an opportunity to further expand KEL's presence in the global automotive component supply chain.

In addition, Renault has issued RFQs for its current global requirements, providing KEL with further opportunities to participate in international vehicle programmes and expand its customer base.

The Company's focus on global customers, new platforms and higher-value component programmes forms an important part of its strategy to build sustainable business growth and diversify its revenue base.

Body Panel Manufacturing

KEL further strengthened its capabilities in automotive body panel manufacturing, including the in-house development of a complex body panel for the KW scooter.

To support this capability, the Company added 300-ton hydraulic and 250-ton mechanical presses, along with additional locally sourced presses. These investments have expanded KEL's capacity to undertake complex sheet-metal operations involving blanking, forming and deep drawing.

The Company also invested in spot-welding machines and dedicated fixtures to support the assembly and manufacturing of these components.

As part of its efforts to increase manufacturing integration, KEL also upgraded its paint shop, enabling the newly developed body panels and associated components to undergo in-house painting operations.

These investments strengthen KEL's ability to undertake a greater portion of the manufacturing value chain internally, while improving control over quality, process consistency and production timelines.

Solar Power Initiative — Yavatmal

As part of its focus on improving energy efficiency and strengthening the sustainability of its operations, KEL has invested in solar power generation at Yavatmal.

The solar installation has an installed capacity of 4.5 MWDC and is expected to generate an average of approximately 5.86 million kWh of electricity annually.

The initiative is estimated to deliver an average annual cost saving of approximately ₹4.12 crore, while increasing the contribution of renewable energy towards the Company's power requirements.

The Yavatmal solar plant represents an important step towards improving the energy efficiency of KEL's manufacturing operations and reducing dependence on conventional sources of electricity.

Operational Efficiency & Energy Transition

Going forward, KEL plans to further improve the energy efficiency of its manufacturing operations through the electrification of its furnaces. The initiative is expected to improve furnace efficiency and enable the Company to make more effective use of the renewable power generated through its solar installation. Greater electrification of the manufacturing process can also help reduce the Company's dependence on LPG and provide a degree of resilience against potential supply and cost pressures arising from geopolitical developments.

The combination of renewable power generation and progressive electrification of manufacturing processes is expected to support KEL's objectives of improving operating efficiency, optimising energy costs and building a more resilient manufacturing operation.

Expanding Forging Capacity

KEL also plans to increase its forging capacity in response to growing demand.

At present, a portion of the Company's forging requirements is being outsourced due to capacity constraints. Increasing in-house forging capacity will enable KEL to bring a greater share of this manufacturing activity within its own operations.

The proposed capacity enhancement is expected to provide opportunities for better cost optimisation, improved production control and stronger cash-flow efficiency, while reducing dependence on external sourcing.

Increasing in-house capacity will also strengthen KEL's ability to respond to higher customer demand and support the Company's growth across existing and new automotive programmes.

Strengthening Manufacturing Capabilities

The developments during the year reflect KEL's broader focus on combining engineering expertise, automation, capacity enhancement, energy efficiency and manufacturing integration.

From robotic chassis welding and CNC tube bending to advanced sheet-metal forming, spot welding and in-house painting, the Company is progressively strengthening its capabilities to address increasingly complex automotive component requirements.

At the same time, investments in renewable energy, furnace electrification and additional forging capacity are expected to improve operational efficiency, optimise costs and strengthen manufacturing resilience.

New business wins and discussions with global automotive customers provide a platform for KEL to expand its participation in international automotive programmes and create new avenues for revenue growth.

Together, these initiatives demonstrate KEL's continued focus on strengthening its manufacturing capabilities, improving operational efficiency, increasing in-house value addition and building a more competitive and resilient automotive component business.

KINETIC EV

Building the Foundations for a New Era of Electric Mobility

The financial year marked an important phase in Kinetic's renewed journey in electric mobility. With the national launch of the Kinetic DX, the Company moved from product development and preparation to building a wider business ecosystem around electric two-wheelers.

The year was characterised by a series of initiatives across product, retail, technology, customer engagement and brand building. Kinetic expanded its presence across India, strengthened its dealer and service capabilities, operationalised Kinetic LAB, developed connected mobility capabilities in association with Reliance JioThings, built the I AM KINETIC community and took the Kinetic DX to customers, media and challenging real-world environments.

The Company also continued to build visibility and credibility for its electric mobility proposition through regional media rides, major brand engagements and product testing in Manali. The year culminated in significant recognition for both the Kinetic brand and the Kinetic DX.

Together, these initiatives represent an important transition — from launching an electric vehicle to building the capabilities, network and ecosystem required to support a growing electric mobility business.

01 | THE NATIONAL LAUNCH

A New Chapter Begins

The year began with the national launch of the Kinetic DX, marking the return of one of India's most recognised two-wheeler names in an electric avatar.

The Kinetic DX brought together Kinetic's established understanding of the Indian two-wheeler market with contemporary electric mobility technology. The product was developed to address the requirements of everyday urban mobility while carrying forward the distinctive identity associated with the Kinetic name. The national launch represented more than the introduction of a new electric scooter. It marked the beginning of Kinetic's renewed presence in the two-wheeler market and established the Kinetic DX as the foundation of the Company's electric mobility strategy. From the launch, the focus shifted towards building the wider ecosystem required to take the product to customers across India — encompassing retail, sales, service, technology, community engagement and product validation.

02 | BUILDING A PAN-INDIA PRESENCE

Expanding Access to Kinetic EV

Following the national launch, establishing a strong retail and distribution network became one of Kinetic EV's key priorities. During the year, the Company signed 111 Letters of Intent (LOIs) with prospective dealers across India, creating a strong pipeline for the expansion of its retail presence.

By the end of the period, 30 Kinetic EV showrooms were operational, extending the brand's presence across multiple regions and markets.

The network expanded into cities including Pune, Hyderabad, Bengaluru, Ahmedabad, Jaipur, Nagpur and Nashik, among others.

The expansion marked an important transition from product introduction to market establishment. The growing network is designed to provide customers with access to product information, test rides, sales support and after-sales service, while also creating stronger market visibility for the Kinetic EV brand.

For Kinetic, the development of the retail network is an ongoing process. The Company continues to work with its channel partners to expand its geographical reach and create a stronger customer touchpoint across India.

111 LOIs | 30 Operational Showrooms

These milestones represent the scale of Kinetic EV's network-building efforts during the financial year and provide the foundation for further expansion.

03 | BUILDING DEALER CAPABILITY

Sales and Service Readiness Kinetic's approach to network expansion extended beyond establishing physical outlets. With electric mobility bringing new technologies, systems and ownership considerations to the two-wheeler market, ensuring that dealer teams are adequately prepared is an important part of creating customer confidence. Ahead of showroom inaugurations, Kinetic conducted structured sales and service training programmes for dealer teams.

Sales personnel were familiarised with the Kinetic DX, its product proposition, features and customer benefits, while service personnel received product and technical orientation relevant to electric vehicle ownership.

These programmes were designed to ensure that every new outlet was prepared not only for its inauguration but also for the customer journey that followed.

The focus on dealer readiness also supports consistency across the expanding Kinetic EV network — from product demonstration and customer interaction to service support and ownership assistance.

As the Company continues to expand, dealer capability will remain an important pillar of its customer experience strategy.

04 | STRENGTHENING INNOVATION

Kinetic LAB Becomes Operational Innovation and engineering capability remain central to Kinetic's electric mobility strategy.

During the year, Kinetic LAB became operational, providing a dedicated platform for innovation, development and technology-led initiatives. The operationalisation of Kinetic LAB represents an important step in strengthening the Company's internal capabilities as the electric vehicle industry continues to evolve.

The transition to electric mobility involves developments across battery systems, vehicle electronics, connectivity, software, charging and vehicle architecture. Building the capability to work across these areas is critical to developing products that can respond to changing customer expectations and market requirements. Kinetic LAB provides a platform to support this continuing development and contributes to the Company's broader objective of strengthening its engineering and innovation ecosystem. The facility is expected to play an important role as Kinetic expands its electric mobility portfolio and explores technologies and solutions for future products.

05 | CONNECTED MOBILITY

Technology Partnership with Reliance JioThings

As electric vehicles become increasingly connected, digital technology is becoming an integral part of the modern ownership experience. During the year, Kinetic strengthened its connected mobility capabilities through its association with Reliance JioThings.

The collaboration brings connected vehicle technology into the Kinetic EV ecosystem, supporting a more digitally enabled interaction between the customer and the vehicle.

Connected mobility can provide customers with greater visibility into aspects of their vehicle and ride, while also creating opportunities for Kinetic to develop a deeper understanding of vehicle usage and evolving customer requirements.

The association with Reliance JioThings forms part of Kinetic's broader technology roadmap and complements the Company's efforts to build an electric vehicle ecosystem that extends beyond the physical vehicle. The integration of connected technologies also reflects the changing nature of mobility, where the vehicle increasingly operates as part of a larger digital ecosystem.

For Kinetic, combining electric mobility with connected technology represents an important step towards developing products and experiences aligned with the expectations of a new generation of customers.

06 | I AM KINETIC

Building a Community Around the Brand Kinetic's electric mobility journey extends beyond products and technology. It is also about building a relationship with the people who form the Kinetic ecosystem. During the year, the Company continued to build I AM KINETIC, its community platform for owners, enthusiasts and supporters of the brand.

The initiative creates opportunities for people to connect with Kinetic beyond the conventional customer-product relationship and participate in experiences associated with the brand. I AM KINETIC also creates a bridge between Kinetic's heritage and its electric future. The community brings together people who have a long-standing association with the Kinetic name and a new generation of customers discovering the brand through its electric mobility products. Through community engagement, experiences and interactions, the platform is helping Kinetic create stronger and more direct relationships with its growing customer and enthusiast base.

As the electric vehicle business expands, I AM KINETIC is expected to become an increasingly important part of the Company's customer engagement ecosystem. part of creating customer confidence.

07 | EXPERIENCING THE PRODUCT

Media Rides Across India

As the Kinetik DX expanded into new markets, Kinetik also created opportunities for automotive media to experience the product first-hand. Media rides were conducted across the West, North and South of India, allowing automotive journalists and media representatives to experience the Kinetik DX in different markets and riding environments. The regional rides provided an opportunity to experience the vehicle beyond the static environment of a showroom or launch event. Journalists were able to assess the product in real-world conditions and engage directly with the Kinetik team. The programme also enabled Kinetik to engage with the automotive media community across different regions and build greater awareness around its electric mobility proposition.

Taking the Kinetik DX across the country reinforced the Company's commitment to presenting the product to audiences beyond its initial launch markets and creating opportunities for independent evaluation and discussion.

08 | ENGAGING THE KINETIC ECOSYSTEM

Major Events and Brand Experiences

The year also saw Kinetik participate in and conduct a range of major events and brand engagements.

These initiatives provided opportunities to bring together customers, dealers, media, enthusiasts and other stakeholders associated with the Kinetik ecosystem.

The events served as platforms for product showcases, customer interactions, dealer engagement and brand experiences, while also helping Kinetik strengthen its visibility within the automotive and electric mobility landscape.

For a brand with a long-standing presence in Indian mobility, these engagements provide an important opportunity to translate heritage into contemporary experiences and create stronger connections with existing and prospective customers.

The events also complemented the Company's retail and community initiatives, creating multiple points of interaction between Kinetik and its wider ecosystem.

09 | TESTING BEYOND THE EVERYDAY

Kinetik DX in Manali

Product validation remained an important component of Kinetik's approach during the year. The Kinetik DX was taken to Manali for product testing, providing an opportunity to evaluate the vehicle under challenging terrain and environmental conditions.

The exercise allowed the product to be experienced beyond conventional urban riding conditions and provided valuable insights into its performance across a demanding operating environment.

Testing in varied conditions forms an important part of Kinetik's approach to product development and validation. It enables the engineering team to understand vehicle behaviour across different terrains and conditions while identifying opportunities for continuous improvement.

The Manali testing programme demonstrated Kinetik's focus on taking the product beyond controlled environments and building confidence through real-world evaluation. As the Company develops its electric mobility capabilities, such testing and validation will remain an important part of its product development process.

10 | RECOGNITION

Recognition from Customers and the Industry

The year also brought important recognition for Kinetik and the Kinetik DX. At the Times Drive Auto Summit & Awards 2026, the Kinetik DX received the Viewer's Choice Award.

The recognition represents an important acknowledgement from the audience and automotive enthusiasts and adds to the growing visibility of the Kinetik DX in the electric two-wheeler segment. The award also reflects the response generated by the product as Kinetik continues to establish its electric mobility presence across India.

Iconic Brand Recognition

Kinetik also received the Iconic Brand Award in Goa, recognising the enduring strength and relevance of the Kinetik brand.

The recognition acknowledges the legacy that Kinetik has built in the Indian two-wheeler market and the continued relevance of the brand as it enters a new era of mobility. Together, these recognitions represent two important dimensions of Kinetik's journey during the year — the strength of a brand with a long-standing place in Indian mobility and the growing acceptance of its renewed electric offering.

11 | A YEAR OF BUILDING THE ECOSYSTEM

The financial year was defined by the establishment of several important foundations for Kinetik EV. The national launch introduced the Kinetik DX to the market and marked the beginning of the Company's renewed electric mobility journey.

The expansion of the retail network, supported by 111 LOIs and 30 operational showrooms, created a growing physical presence across India. The sales and service training programmes strengthened the readiness of the dealer network and helped establish a more consistent customer experience. The operationalisation of Kinetik LAB strengthened the Company's innovation and development capabilities. The association with Reliance JioThings added a connected mobility dimension to the Kinetic EV ecosystem and supported the Company's broader technology roadmap.

I AM KINETIC began building a community around the brand, bringing together owners, enthusiasts and supporters. The West, North and South media rides created opportunities for automotive media to experience the Kinetic DX in different markets. Major events and brand engagements strengthened interaction with customers, dealers, media and enthusiasts. The Manali testing programme provided real-world product validation under challenging conditions. And the Viewer's Choice Award at the Times Drive Auto Summit & Awards 2026, along with the Iconic Brand Award in Goa, provided external recognition for the brand and its electric mobility journey. Taken together, these initiatives represent a transition from product launch to ecosystem building.

LOOKING AHEAD

Building Scale on a Stronger Foundation

Kinetic EV enters the next phase with a growing retail presence, an expanding dealer pipeline, strengthened technology and innovation capabilities and a growing community around the brand. The Company's priorities will include expanding its market presence, strengthening its dealer and service network, improving customer access and continuing to build capabilities across product development and connected mobility.

The Company will also continue to develop its relationship with customers and enthusiasts through I AM KINETIC, creating a stronger community around the brand and its products. The association with Reliance JioThings and the operationalisation of Kinetic LAB provide additional foundations for the Company's technology and innovation roadmap as it looks towards future electric mobility solutions.

The Indian electric two-wheeler market continues to evolve rapidly. Kinetic's approach is to combine its deep understanding of the Indian two-wheeler market and its established brand equity with new capabilities in electric mobility, technology and customer engagement. - (ii) Shareholders who have already voted prior to the meeting date would not be entitled to vote at the meeting venue.
- (iii) Pursuant to SEBI Circular No. SEBI/HO/CFD/CMD/CIR/P/2020/242 dated 09.12.2020, under Regulation 44 of Securities and Exchange Board of India (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015, listed entities are required to provide remote e-voting facility to its shareholders, in respect of all shareholders' resolutions. However, it has been observed that the participation by the public non-institutional shareholders/retail shareholders is at a negligible level.

Currently, there are multiple e-voting service providers (ESPs) providing e-voting facility to listed entities in India. This necessitates registration on various ESPs and maintenance of multiple user IDs and passwords by the shareholders.

In order to increase the efficiency of the voting process, pursuant to a public consultation, it has been decided to enable e-voting to all the demat account holders, by way of a single login credential, through their demat accounts/ websites of Depositories/ Depository Participants. Demat account holders would be able to cast their vote without having to register again with the ESPs, thereby, not only facilitating seamless authentication but also enhancing ease and convenience of participating in e-voting process.

MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

Global economic review

Overview

The global economy remained resilient during FY 2025-26, although the operating environment continued to be shaped by geopolitical tensions, trade fragmentation, uneven monetary policy normalisation, supply-chain realignments and uncertainty around energy and commodity prices. Growth remained more resilient than initially expected, but the recovery continued to differ across regions and sectors. Manufacturing activity remained under pressure in several mature markets, while services and selected emerging markets provided support to global activity.

The global automotive industry entered 2025 on a cautious footing and subsequently recorded a recovery in overall vehicle production and sales. According to the International Organization of Motor Vehicle Manufacturers (OICA), global vehicle production increased from 92.7 million units in 2024 to 96.4 million units in 2025, while global sales increased from 95.3 million units to 99.8 million units. Growth was increasingly concentrated in Asia, while several developed markets continued to experience muted demand and policy uncertainty.

The automotive sector continued to undergo structural changes driven by electrification, connected technologies, advanced driver assistance systems, software-defined vehicles, manufacturing automation and evolving emissions and safety regulations. These trends are reshaping component demand and creating opportunities for manufacturers that can combine engineering capability, quality, cost competitiveness and speed of product development.

At the same time, the global industry faced challenges arising from tariff and trade-policy changes, logistics disruptions, volatile raw-material prices, foreign exchange movements and varying pace of electric-vehicle adoption across geographies. The ability of automotive suppliers to maintain resilient supply chains, manage costs and adapt product portfolios remains critical.

Sources: OICA

Global automotive industry – key themes

- Demand recovery remained uneven across regions, with Asia continuing to account for a significant share of global vehicle production and sales.
- Electrification continued to influence investment decisions, product development and supply-chain strategies, although the pace of EV adoption differed materially by market.
- Connected vehicle technologies, software integration, advanced safety systems and automation continued to increase the technology content of vehicles.
- OEMs and suppliers continued to focus on localisation, supply-chain resilience, dual sourcing and cost optimisation.
- Geopolitical developments, trade barriers, freight costs and commodity prices remained important variables for the automotive value chain.

Outlook

The global automotive outlook remains constructive over the medium term, supported by replacement demand, urbanisation, rising mobility needs, technology-led product development and increasing adoption of cleaner mobility solutions. However, the sector is expected to remain highly competitive and sensitive to macroeconomic conditions. For component manufacturers, opportunities are likely to arise from higher content per vehicle, localisation, new product introductions, EV and hybrid platforms, advanced precision components and greater participation in global supply chains.

Indian economic review

Overview

The Indian economy continued to demonstrate strong resilience during FY 2025-26 despite a challenging global environment. According to the provisional estimates released by the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation (MoSPI) in June 2026, India's real GDP is estimated to have grown by 7.7% in FY 2025-26, compared with 7.1% in FY 2024-25. Real GVA is estimated to have grown by 7.9% during the year.

The economy benefited from sustained domestic demand, improving investment activity, resilient services, a strengthening manufacturing base and continued public infrastructure expenditure. Private consumption remained an important growth driver, while investment in infrastructure and productive capacity continued to support economic activity.

The manufacturing environment improved during the year. The provisional national accounts indicate continued growth in the secondary sector, while higher steel consumption, cement production, vehicle registrations and machinery imports reflected healthy investment and mobility-related activity. The automotive and engineering sectors therefore operated against a relatively supportive domestic demand backdrop.

India's external environment remained influenced by global trade developments, commodity prices, exchange-rate movements and geopolitical risks. For export-oriented businesses, changes in shipping routes, freight costs and customer demand across international markets remained important considerations.

Key indicators

Indicator	FY 2025-26	FY 2024-25
Real GDP growth	7.7%	7.1%
Real GVA growth	7.9%	7.3%

Growth drivers

- Strong domestic consumption supported demand across consumer and mobility-linked sectors.
- Public and private investment continued to support infrastructure, manufacturing and capacity creation.

- Improved vehicle registrations and industrial indicators supported the broader automotive ecosystem.
- Technology adoption, localisation and supply-chain diversification continued to strengthen India's role in global manufacturing.
- Improving financial-sector health and the transmission of lower interest rates supported financing conditions and business confidence.

Outlook

India is expected to remain among the fastest-growing major economies. The medium-term outlook is supported by domestic consumption, investment, infrastructure development, manufacturing expansion, formalisation of the economy and technology adoption. Risks include global trade fragmentation, geopolitical tensions, energy and commodity-price volatility, currency movements and external demand conditions.

Global automotive industry overview

The global automotive industry is in the midst of a structural transformation. Traditional internal-combustion-engine platforms continue to represent a substantial part of the installed vehicle base, while electric, hybrid and other low-emission technologies are expanding. At the same time, connected vehicles, software, advanced safety systems, automation and data-led manufacturing are changing the economics and technology architecture of the sector.

OICA reported that global vehicle production increased to 96.4 million units in 2025 from 92.7 million units in 2024, while global sales increased to 99.8 million units from 95.3 million units. The growth was not uniform across regions, with Asia accounting for a significant portion of the increase.

Source: International Organization of Motor Vehicle Manufacturers (OICA), April 2026.

Key growth drivers

Electrification and clean mobility:

The transition towards lower-emission mobility continues to create demand for batteries, electric motors, power electronics, thermal management, lightweight structures, connectors and other specialised components. The pace of adoption varies across vehicle categories and geographies, making technology flexibility important for suppliers.

Connected and digital technologies:

Connected features, telematics, software integration, over-the-air updates and digital manufacturing are increasing the technology content of vehicles and creating opportunities for suppliers with engineering, electronics and software capabilities.

Advanced safety and driver assistance:

Stricter safety requirements and increasing consumer expectations are encouraging OEMs to adopt advanced braking, sensing, stability, driver-assistance and occupant-protection systems.

Supply-chain localisation and resilience:

OEMs are increasingly seeking resilient, cost-effective and geographically diversified supply chains. This trend supports opportunities for Indian component manufacturers that can deliver quality, reliability and competitive total cost.

Emerging-market demand:

Rising incomes, urbanisation and expanding vehicle ownership in emerging markets are expected to support long-term demand for personal and commercial mobility.

Key challenges

- Trade restrictions, tariff changes and geopolitical developments can affect customer programmes, sourcing decisions and export economics.
- Raw-material and energy-price volatility can place pressure on margins and working capital.
- Rapid technology shifts may require continuous investment in product development and manufacturing capabilities.
- The transition to EVs can change the mix of components required by OEMs and alter established supply relationships.
- High customer expectations on quality, delivery, cost and sustainability continue to raise competitive intensity.

Outlook

The global automotive industry is expected to continue evolving towards a more diversified technology landscape. For auto-component manufacturers, long-term opportunities will be driven by localisation, product complexity, higher value addition, EV and hybrid applications, advanced manufacturing and access to global OEM supply chains.

Global electric vehicle industry overview

Electric mobility continued to gain strategic importance during FY 2025-26. The global EV ecosystem is being shaped by improvements in battery technology, charging infrastructure, vehicle affordability, regulatory targets and investments by OEMs and suppliers. The transition is, however, progressing at different speeds across regions and vehicle categories.

The International Energy Agency's Global EV Outlook highlights the continuing expansion of electric mobility and the growing importance of batteries, charging infrastructure, manufacturing capacity and policy support. For component suppliers, the transition creates opportunities in high-voltage systems, electric powertrain components, thermal management, lightweight structures, connectors, electronics and related engineering solutions.

Source: International Energy Agency, Global EV Outlook 2025.

Key drivers

- Improving battery energy density, charging performance and cost competitiveness.

- Government policies and emissions targets supporting cleaner mobility.
- Expansion of charging infrastructure across urban, semi-urban and highway networks.
- Increasing availability of EV models across passenger, two-wheeler, three-wheeler and commercial vehicle categories.
- Growing investment in localisation of EV components and manufacturing capabilities.

Implications for auto-component manufacturers

The EV transition is expected to alter the component mix of vehicles rather than simply reduce the addressable market for suppliers. Manufacturers with established machining, forging, casting, transmission, drivetrain, chassis and precision-engineering capabilities can leverage their engineering base to develop adjacent products for electric and hybrid platforms. The ability to balance existing ICE-related programmes with emerging EV opportunities is likely to remain important during the transition period.

Indian automotive industry overview

The Indian automotive industry remained a key contributor to manufacturing, employment, exports and technological development during FY 2025-26. The sector benefited from improved consumer affordability, lower financing costs, tax and policy measures, replacement demand and a strong second half of the financial year.

According to the Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (SIAM), FY 2025-26 was a landmark year for the Indian automobile industry. Passenger vehicle sales reached 46.43 lakh units, growing 7.9%; commercial vehicle sales reached 10.80 lakh units, growing 12.6%; three-wheeler sales reached 8.36 lakh units, growing 12.8%; and two-wheeler sales reached 2.17 crore units, growing 10.7%. Each major vehicle category recorded its highest-ever financial-year sales.

The second half of FY 2025-26 recorded a strong recovery, supported by improved affordability following GST rate changes, personal income-tax relief, lower financing costs and stronger consumer sentiment. The industry also benefited from increased electric-vehicle adoption and continued model launches.

Source: Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (SIAM), FY 2025-26 industry performance, 14 April 2026.

FY 2025-26 domestic sales

Vehicle segment	FY 2025-26 sales	Growth
Passenger vehicles	46.43 lakh	7.9%
Commercial vehicles	10.80 lakh	12.6%
Three-wheelers	8.36 lakh	12.8%
Two-wheelers	2.17 crore	10.7%

Key trends

- Passenger-vehicle demand continued to shift towards utility vehicles and higher-value variants.
- Two-wheeler demand benefited from improved rural and semi-urban conditions, affordability and financing.

- Commercial-vehicle demand was supported by replacement demand, infrastructure activity and higher economic activity.
- Three-wheeler demand improved materially, supported by urban mobility and goods movement.
- Exports remained an important growth lever, with manufacturers continuing to diversify their geographical markets.

Outlook

The outlook for FY 2026-27 remains cautiously optimistic. SIAM expects the positive momentum from the second half of FY 2025-26 to continue across vehicle categories. However, the industry will need to monitor geopolitical developments, crude oil and commodity prices, exchange rates, shipping routes and supply-chain conditions.

Indian auto-components industry overview

The Indian auto-components industry is an important part of the country's manufacturing ecosystem and a key enabler of vehicle production, exports and technological advancement. The sector spans powertrain, transmission, engine, chassis, suspension, braking, electrical, electronic and increasingly EV-specific components.

The industry continued to benefit from rising vehicle production, localisation, exports, increasing vehicle complexity and the growing replacement and aftermarket opportunity. According to ACMA, the Indian auto-component industry recorded turnover of USD 80.2 billion in FY2024-25, representing growth of 9.6%. OEM supplies increased 10%, exports increased 8% to USD 22.9 billion and the domestic aftermarket increased 6% to USD 11.8 billion.

Key growth drivers

Growth in vehicle production:

Higher vehicle volumes across passenger, commercial, two-wheeler and three-wheeler segments support demand for a broad range of components and assemblies.

Shift towards EVs and hybrid vehicles:

The changing powertrain landscape is creating new component categories while also requiring existing suppliers to diversify their product portfolios.

Localisation and supply-chain diversification:

OEMs are increasingly seeking local, reliable and cost-competitive suppliers, creating opportunities for Indian component manufacturers with strong quality and engineering capabilities.

Exports and global sourcing:

India's cost competitiveness, engineering talent and manufacturing ecosystem support its emergence as a preferred sourcing destination.

Aftermarket growth:

A growing and ageing vehicle population, formalisation of repair services and wider distribution channels continue to support the aftermarket.

Technology and automation:

CNC machining, robotics, digital quality systems, Industry 4.0, additive manufacturing and data analytics can improve productivity, consistency and traceability.

Government and policy environment

- Production Linked Incentive programmes continue to support investment in advanced automotive technologies and localisation.
- Policies promoting electric mobility and domestic manufacturing support the development of EV-related supply chains.
- Make in India and Atmanirbhar Bharat continue to encourage domestic manufacturing and supply-chain development.
- Vehicle scrappage and emissions-related measures can support replacement demand and technology upgrades over the medium term.
- State-level industrial policies can provide incentives for capacity creation, employment and manufacturing investments.

Opportunities

- Rising domestic vehicle production provides a broad demand base across two-wheelers, three-wheelers, passenger vehicles and commercial vehicles.
- The shift towards electric and hybrid mobility creates opportunities to diversify into EV-compatible drivetrain, transmission, precision-machined and lightweight components.
- Increasing localisation by OEMs creates opportunities for domestic suppliers with strong engineering, quality and delivery capabilities.
- Growing exports can provide access to new customers and help diversify geographical concentration.
- Automation, robotics, digital manufacturing and process optimisation can improve productivity and enable higher-value products.
- The ageing vehicle parc and expansion of organised service networks support the automotive aftermarket.
- Engineering partnerships and co-development with OEMs can increase value addition and improve programme visibility.

Threats

- Volatility in steel, aluminium, energy and other input costs may put pressure on margins and working capital.

- Customer concentration and dependence on specific platforms can expose suppliers to programme and volume fluctuations.
- Rapid changes in drivetrain technologies may reduce demand for certain legacy components and require accelerated product development.
- Geopolitical tensions, trade barriers and shipping disruptions may affect exports, imported inputs and customer supply chains.
- Foreign exchange movements can affect the economics of export and import transactions.
- Shortages of skilled manpower and rising labour costs may affect productivity and execution.
- Increasing customer requirements relating to quality, traceability, cybersecurity, sustainability and delivery can increase compliance and investment costs.

Outlook

The Company remains cautiously optimistic about the medium-term prospects of the automotive components industry. The combination of strong domestic vehicle demand, increasing localisation, export opportunities, technology transition and the growing need for precision-engineered components provides a favourable platform for sustainable growth. The Company will continue to focus on customer engagement, product diversification, operational efficiency, cost management and technology readiness while maintaining disciplined capital allocation.

The Members of

REPORT ON THE AUDIT OF THE STANDALONE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Opinion

We have audited the standalone financial statements of Kinetic Engineering Limited ("the Company"), which comprise the Balance Sheet as at March 31, 2026, and the Statement of Profit and Loss (including other comprehensive income), Statement of Changes in Equity and Statement of Cash Flows for the year then ended, and notes to the standalone financial statements, including summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory information (hereinafter referred to as "the standalone financial statements").

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the aforesaid standalone financial statements give the information required by the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India including Indian Accounting Standards ('Ind AS') specified under section 133 of the Act, of the state of affairs (financial position) of the Company as at March 31, 2026, and its Profit (financial performance including other comprehensive income), its changes in equity and cash flows for the year ended on that date.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing (SAs) specified under Section 143(10) of the Act. Our responsibilities under those SAs are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Code of Ethics issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the standalone financial statements under the provisions of the Act and the Rules there under, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the Code of Ethics. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters ('KAM') are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the standalone financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the standalone financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Other Information

The Company's management and Board of Directors are responsible for the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Company's annual report, but does not include the standalone financial statements and our auditors' report thereon.

Our opinion on the standalone financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance/conclusion thereon. In connection with our audit of the standalone financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the standalone financial statements or our knowledge obtained in the audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated. If, based on the work we have performed, we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information, we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Management's Responsibility for the Standalone Financial Statements

The Company's management and Board of Directors are responsible for the matters stated in Section 134(5) of the Act with respect to the preparation of these standalone financial statements that give a true and fair view of the state of affairs (financial position), profit or loss (financial performance including other comprehensive income), changes in equity and cash flows of the Company in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) specified under Section 133 of the Act. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of the Company and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the standalone financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the standalone financial statements, management and Board of Directors are responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so. The Board of Directors is also responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Standalone Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the standalone financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these standalone financial statements. As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the standalone financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under Section 143(3) (i) of the Act, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the company has adequate internal financial controls with reference to standalone financial statements in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.

- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the standalone financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the standalone financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the standalone financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the standalone financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Annexure “B” to the Independent Auditor’s Report (Referred to in paragraph 2 (f) under the heading, “Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements” of our report on even date)

Report on the Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 (“the Act”)

We have audited the internal financial controls over financial reporting of Kinetic Engineering Limited (the “Company”) as of March 31, 2026 in conjunction with our audit of the Standalone Financial Statements of the Company for the year ended on that date.

Management’s Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The Company’s management is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (“ICAI”). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to respective company’s policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditor’s Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls over financial reporting of the Company based on our audit. We conducted our Audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the “Guidance Note”) issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India and the Standards on Auditing prescribed under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013, to the extent applicable to an Audit of internal financial controls. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the Audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls over financial reporting was established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our Audit involves performing procedures to obtain Audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls system over financial reporting and their operating effectiveness. Our Audit of internal financial controls over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the Auditor’s judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the Audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our Audit opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls system over financial reporting.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

The company’s internal financial control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. The company’s internal financial control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that –

- a) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company;
- b) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and
- c) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company’s assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls over Financial Reporting

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls over financial reporting, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls over financial reporting to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial control over financial reporting may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the Company has, in all material respects, an adequate internal financial controls system over financial reporting and such internal financial controls over financial reporting were operating effectively as at March 31, 2026, based on the criteria for internal financial control over financial reporting established by Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the ICAI.

Notes to Financial Statements for the year ended March 31, 2026Note - 1 : The Corporate Overview

Kinetic Engineering Limited ('the company') is a public limited company domiciled in India and incorporated under the provisions of Indian Companies Act. The Registered Office of the Company is situated at D-1 Block, Plot No. 18/2, MIDC, Chinchwad, Pune. The company's ordinary shares are listed on the Bombay Stock Exchange.

The company is engaged in the manufacturing and supply of automotive components. The company caters to both domestic and international markets.

Note - 2 : Significant Accounting Policies2.1 Statement of compliance

The financial statements of the company comply in all material aspects with Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) notified under Section 133 of Companies Act, 2013 (the Act) [Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015] and other relevant provisions of the Act.

The financial statements were authorised for issue by the Board of Directors at its meeting held on May 29, 2026.

2.2 Basis of preparation

The financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost basis, except certain financial instruments and defined benefit plans, which are measured at fair value.

2.3 Functional and presentation currency

These financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees (INR), which is the company's functional currency. All amounts have been rounded-off to the nearest Lakhs, unless otherwise stated.

2.4 Significant accounting judgments, estimates and assumptions

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires the management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions which affect the reported amounts of revenue, expenses, current assets, non-current assets, current liabilities, non-current liabilities and disclosure of the contingent liabilities at the end of each reporting period. Actual estimates may differ from these estimates.

Detailed information about each of these estimates and judgements is included in relevant notes.

The areas involving critical estimates and judgements are:

Estimation of current tax expense and payable – Note 14

Estimation of defined benefit obligation – Note 19 & Note 25

Recognition of revenue – Note 26

Recognition of deferred tax assets for carried forward tax losses – Note 6

Useful lives of property, plant and equipment – Note 3 & Point 2.8 under Accounting policy.

Estimation and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised and future periods affected.

2.5 Current versus non-current classification

The company presents assets and liabilities in the balance sheet based on current / non-current classification.

An asset is current when:

It is expected to be realised or intended to be sold or consumed in normal operating cycle;

It is held primarily for the purpose of trading;

It is expected to be realised within twelve months after the reporting period; or

It is cash or cash equivalent unless restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

All other assets are classified as non-current.

A liability is current when:

It is expected to be settled in normal operating cycle;

It is held primarily for the purpose of trading;

It is due to be settled within twelve months after the reporting period; or

There is no unconditional right to defer the settlement of the liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period

All other liabilities are classified as non-current.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are classified as non-current assets and liabilities.

2.6 Revenue recognition

Effective April 1, 2018, the Company has applied Ind AS 115 which establishes a comprehensive framework for determining whether, how much and when revenue is to be recognised. Ind AS 115 replaces Ind AS 18 Revenue and Ind AS 11 Construction Contracts. The standard is applied by the company prospectively and the comparative information in the statement of profit and loss is not restated – i.e. the comparative information continues to be reported under Ind AS 18 and Ind AS 11. The impact of the adoption of the standard on the financial statements of the Company is insignificant.

Revenue is recognised upon transfer of control of promised products or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration which the Company expects to receive in exchange for those products or services.

Revenue is measured based on the transaction price, which is the consideration, adjusted for volume discounts, service level credits, performance bonuses, price concessions and incentives, if any, as specified in the contract with the customer. Revenue also excludes taxes collected from customers.

Dividend income is recorded when the right to receive payment is established. Interest income is recognised using the effective interest method.

Export benefits in the form of Duty Draw Back/ Merchandise Exports Incentive Scheme (MEIS) claims are recognised in the statement of profit and loss on receipt basis.

2.7 Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. However, materials and other items held for use in the production of inventories are not written down below cost, if the finished products in which they will be incorporated are expected to be sold at or above cost. Cost is ascertained on a weighted average basis.

Cost of raw materials, components, stores and spares comprises cost of purchases. Cost of work-in-progress and finished goods comprises direct materials, direct labour and an appropriate proportion of variable and fixed overhead expenditure, the latter being allocated based on normal operating capacity. Cost of inventories also includes all other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition.

Net realisable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less estimated costs of completion and the estimated costs necessary to make the sale.

2.8 Property, plant and equipment (PPE)Recognition and measurement

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost comprising of purchase price and any initial directly attributable cost of bringing the asset to its working condition for its intended use, less accumulated depreciation (other than freehold land) and impairment loss, if any. Borrowing costs directly attributable to the construction of a qualifying asset are capitalised as part of the cost.

When parts of an item of property, plant and equipment have different useful lives, they are accounted for as separate items (major components) of property, plant and equipment.

Subsequent costs

The cost of replacing a part of an item of property, plant and equipment is recognised in the carrying amount of the item if it is probable that the future economic benefits embodied within the part will flow to the company and its cost can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of the replaced part is derecognised. The costs of the day-to-day servicing of property, plant and equipment are recognised in the statement of profit and loss as incurred.

Disposal

The gain or loss arising on disposal of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between sale proceeds and carrying value of such item, and is recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

Depreciation

Depreciation is calculated over the depreciable amount, which is the cost of an asset, or other amount substituted for cost, less its residual value.

On PPE acquired on or before 31st March 2000: Depreciation is recognised in the statement of profit and loss on a written down value basis over the estimated useful lives of each part of an item of property, plant and equipment as prescribed in Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013, as assessed by the management of the company based on technical evaluation.

On PPE acquired after 31st March 2000: Depreciation is recognised in the statement of profit and loss on a straight line basis over the estimated useful lives of each part of an item of property, plant and equipment as prescribed in Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013, as assessed by the management of the company based on technical evaluation.

Freehold land is not depreciated.

The property, plant and equipment acquired under finance leases is depreciated over the shorter of the lease term and their useful lives unless it is reasonably certain that the company will obtain ownership by the end of the lease term.

The estimated useful lives for main categories of property, plant and equipments are:

Category	Useful life
Building	30 to 60 years
Plant and Machinery	15 to 25 years
Electrical installation and Fittings	10 years
Dies, Jigs & Fixtures	10 to 15 years
Furniture and Fixtures	8 to 10 years
Office Equipments	3 to 5 years
Vehicles	8 to 10 years

2.9 Intangible assets

Recognition and measurement

Intangible assets are recognised when the asset is identifiable, is within the control of the company, it is probable that the future economic benefits that are attributable to the asset will flow to the company and cost of the asset can be reliably measured.

Expenditure on research activities is recognised in the statement of profit and loss as incurred. Development expenditure is capitalised only if the expenditure can be measured reliably, the product or process is technically and commercially feasible, future economic benefits are probable and the company intends to and has sufficient resources to complete development and to use or sell the asset.

Subsequent measurement

Subsequent expenditure is capitalised only when it increases the future economic benefits embodied in the specific asset to which it relates.

Amortisation

Amortisation is calculated over the cost of the asset, or other amount substituted for cost, less its residual value. Amortisation is recognised in statement of profit and loss on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of intangible assets from the date that they are available for use, since this most closely reflects the expected pattern of consumption of the future economic benefits embodied in the asset.

The estimated useful lives are as follows:

Asset	Useful life
Software	4 Years

2.10 Investment property

Property that is held for long-term rental yields or for capital appreciation or both, and that is not occupied by the company, is classified as investment property.

Investment property is measured at cost less accumulated depreciation.

2.11 Impairment of tangible and intangible assets

Property, plant and equipment and intangible assets with finite life are evaluated for recoverability whenever there is any indication that their carrying amounts may not be recoverable. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount (i.e. higher of the fair value less cost to sell and the value in-use) is determined on an individual asset basis unless the asset does not generate cash flows that are largely independent of those from other assets. In such cases, the recoverable amount is determined for the cash generating unit (CGU) to which the asset belongs.

If the recoverable amount of an asset (or CGU) is estimated to be less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount of the asset (or CGU) is reduced to its recoverable amount. An impairment loss is recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

An impairment loss in respect of goodwill is not reversed. For other assets, an impairment loss is reversed only to the extent that the asset's carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation or amortisation, if no impairment loss had been recognised.

2.12 Foreign currency transactions and balances

Transactions in foreign currency are recorded at exchange rates prevailing at the date of transactions. Exchange differences arising on foreign exchange transactions settled during the year are recognised in the statement of profit and loss of the year.

Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies which are outstanding, as at the reporting period are translated at the closing exchange rates and the resultant exchange differences are recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

Non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies that are measured in terms of historical cost are translated using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction.

2.13 Employee benefits

Short-term employee benefits

Employee benefits payable wholly within twelve months of rendering the service are classified as short-term employee benefits and are recognised in the period in which the employee renders the related service. A liability is recognised for the amount expected to be paid when there is a present legal or constructive obligation to pay this amount as a result of past service provided by the employee and the obligation can be estimated reliably.

Defined contribution plans

Contributions to defined contribution plans are recognised as expense when employees have rendered services entitling them to such benefits.

Defined benefit plans

The employees' gratuity scheme is a defined benefit plan. The present value of the obligation under such defined benefit plans is determined based on actuarial valuation using the projected unit credit method, which recognises each period of service as giving rise to additional unit of employee benefit entitlement and measures each unit separately to build up the final obligation.

The obligation is measured at the present value of the estimated future cash flows. The discount rates used for determining the present value of the obligation under defined benefit plans, is based on the market yields on government securities as at the reporting date, having maturity periods approximating to the terms of related obligations.

Remeasurements, comprising of actuarial gains and losses, the effect of the asset ceiling, excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability and the return on plan assets (excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability), are recognised immediately in the balance sheet with a corresponding debit or credit to retained earnings through other comprehensive income (OCI) in the period in which they occur. Remeasurements are not reclassified to the statement of profit and loss in subsequent periods.

In case of funded plans, the fair value of the plan's assets is reduced from the gross obligation under the defined benefit plans, to recognise the obligation on net basis.

When the benefits of the plan are changed or when a plan is curtailed, the resulting change in benefits that relates to past service or the gain or loss on curtailment is recognised immediately in the statement of profit and loss. Net interest is calculated by applying the discount rate to the net defined benefit liability or asset. The company recognises gains/ losses on settlement of a defined plan when the settlement occurs.

Compensated absences

The liabilities for earned leave are not expected to be settled wholly within twelve months after the end of the reporting period in which the employees render the related service. They are therefore measured as the present value of expected future payments to be made in respect of services provided by employees up to the end of the reporting period using the projected unit credit method as determined by actuarial valuation. The benefits are discounted using the market yields at the end of the reporting period that have terms approximating the terms of the related obligation. Remeasurements as a result of experience adjustments and change in actuarial assumptions are recognised in the statement of profit and loss. The obligations are presented as current liabilities in the balance sheet if the entity does not have an unconditional right to defer settlement for at least twelve months after the reporting period, regardless of when the actual settlement is expected to occur.

Termination benefits

Termination benefits are expensed at the earlier of when the company can no longer withdraw the offer of those benefits and when the company recognises costs for a restructuring. If benefits are not expected to be settled wholly within 12 months of the reporting date, then they are discounted.

2.14 Leases

The determination of whether an arrangement is (or contains) a lease is based on the substance of the arrangement at the inception of the lease. The arrangement is, or contains, a lease if fulfilment of the arrangement is dependent on the use of a specific asset or assets and the arrangement conveys a right to use the asset or assets, even if that right is not explicitly specified in an arrangement.

Company as a lessee

A lease is classified at the inception date as a finance lease or an operating lease. A lease that transfers substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership to the company is classified as a finance lease.

Finance leases are capitalised at the commencement of the lease at the inception date fair value of the leased asset or, if lower, at the present value of the minimum lease payments. Lease payments are apportioned between finance charges and reduction of the lease liability to achieve a constant rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability. Finance charges are recognised in finance costs in the statement of profit and loss.

A leased asset is depreciated over the useful life of the asset. However, if there is no reasonable certainty that the company will obtain ownership by the end of the lease term, the asset is depreciated over the shorter of the estimated useful life of the asset and the lease term.

Operating lease payments are recognised as an expense in the statement of profit and loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term unless the payments to the lessor are structured to increase in line with expected general inflation to compensate for the lessor's expected inflationary cost increases or another systematic basis is available.

Company as lessor

Leases in which the company does not transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of an asset are classified as operating leases. Rental income from operating lease is recognised on a straight-line basis over the term of the relevant lease unless the payments to the lessor are structured to increase in line with expected general inflation to compensate for the lessor's expected inflationary cost increases or another systematic basis is available. Initial direct costs incurred in negotiating and arranging an operating lease are added to the carrying amount of the leased asset and recognised over the lease term on the same basis as rental income. Contingent rents are recognised as revenue in the period in which they are earned.

Leases are classified as finance leases when substantially all of the risks and rewards of ownership transfer from the company to the lessee. Amounts due from lessees under finance leases are recorded as receivables at the company's net investment in the leases. Finance lease income is allocated to accounting periods to reflect a constant periodic rate of return on the net investment outstanding in respect of the lease.

2.15 Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs consist of interest and other costs that an entity incurs in connection with the borrowing of funds. Borrowing cost also includes exchange differences to the extent regarded as an adjustment to the borrowing costs.

Borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset that necessarily takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use or sale are capitalised during the period of time that is required to complete and prepare the asset for its intended use or sale. All other borrowing costs are expensed in the period in which they are incurred.

2.16 Income tax

Income tax expense comprises current and deferred tax. It is recognised in the statement of profit and loss except to the extent that it relates to a business combination, or items recognised directly in equity or in OCI.

Current tax

Current tax assets and liabilities are measured at the amount expected to be recovered from or paid to the taxation authorities. The tax rates and tax laws used to compute the amount are those that are enacted, at the reporting date in the country where the company operates and generates taxable income. Current tax assets and liabilities are offset only if there is a legally enforceable right to set it off the recognised amounts and it is intended to realise the asset and settle the liability on a net basis or simultaneously.

Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT) paid in a year is charged to the statement of profit and loss as current tax. The company recognises MAT credit available as an asset only to the extent that there is convincing evidence that the company will pay normal income tax during the specified period, i.e., the period for which MAT credit is allowed to be carried forward. The company reviews the 'MAT credit entitlement' asset at each reporting date and writes down the asset to the extent the company does not have convincing evidence that it will pay normal tax during the specified period.

Deferred tax

Deferred tax is provided using the balance sheet method on temporary differences between the tax base of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes at the reporting date.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognised for all taxable temporary differences, except:

When the deferred tax liability arises from the initial recognition of goodwill or an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss;

Taxable temporary differences arising on the initial recognition of goodwill.

Deferred tax assets are recognised for all deductible temporary differences, the carry forward of unused tax credits and any unused tax losses. Deferred tax assets are recognised to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilised, except:

When the deferred tax asset relating to the deductible temporary difference arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be utilised. Unrecognised deferred tax assets are reassessed at each reporting date and are recognised to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profits will allow the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the year when the asset is realised or the liability is settled, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset if a legally enforceable right exists to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred taxes relate to the same taxable entity and the same taxation authority.

Deferred tax relating to items recognised outside profit or loss is recognised outside profit or loss. Deferred tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in OCI or directly in equity.

2.17 Financial instruments

Financial assets and liabilities are recognised when the company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Financial assets and liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss) are added to or deducted from the fair value measured on initial recognition of financial asset or financial liability.

The Company derecognises a financial asset only when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire, or when it transfers the financial asset and substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the asset to another entity. The Company derecognises financial liabilities when, and only when, the Company's obligations are discharged, cancelled or have expired.

Cash and cash equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid financial instruments, which are readily convertible into known amounts of cash that are subject to an insignificant risk of change in value and having original maturities of three months or less from the date of purchase, to be cash equivalents. Cash and cash equivalents consist of balances with banks which are unrestricted for withdrawal and usage.

Financial assets at amortised cost

Financial assets are subsequently measured at amortised cost if these financial assets are held within a business whose objective is to hold these assets in order to collect contractual cash flows and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

Financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income

Financial assets are measured at fair value through other comprehensive income if these financial assets are held within a business whose objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows on specified dates that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding and selling financial assets.

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets are measured at fair value through profit or loss unless they are measured at amortised cost or at fair value through other comprehensive income on initial recognition. The transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are immediately recognised in statement of profit and loss.

Financial liabilities

Financial liabilities are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method.

Equity instruments

An equity instrument is a contract that evidences residual interest in the assets of the company after deducting all of its liabilities. Equity instruments issued by the Company are recognised at the proceeds received net of direct issue cost.

Offsetting of financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the balance sheet if there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

Impairment of financial assets

The company applies expected credit loss (ECL) model for measurement and recognition of impairment loss on the assets carried at amortised cost and FVTOCI debt instruments. The impairment methodology applied depends on whether there has been a significant increase in credit risk. Note 35 details how the company determines whether there has been a significant increase in credit risk.

For trade receivables only, the company applies the simplified approach permitted by 'Ind AS 109 - Financial instruments', which requires expected lifetime losses to be recognised from initial recognition of the receivables.

2.18 Fair value measurement

For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the Company has determined classes of assets and liabilities based on the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as;

Level 1 - Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

Level 2 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable.

Level 3 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable.

The company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data is available to measure fair value, maximizing the use of relevant observable inputs and minimizing the use of unobservable inputs.

2.19 Provisions and contingencies

A provision is recognised when the company has a present obligation as a result of past event and it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation, in respect of which a reliable estimate can be made. These are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimates.

Contingent liabilities are disclosed when there is a possible obligation arising from past events, the existence of which will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the Company or a present obligation that arises from past events where it is either not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation or a reliable estimate of the amount cannot be made. Contingent assets are neither recognised nor disclosed in the financial statements.

2.20 Earnings per share (EPS)

Basic earnings per share is computed by dividing profit or loss attributable to equity shareholders of the Company by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year.

2.21 Cash dividend to equity holders

The company recognises a liability to make cash distributions to equity holders when the distribution is authorised and the distribution is no longer at the discretion of the company. As per the corporate laws in India, a distribution is authorised when it is approved by the shareholders. A corresponding amount is recognised directly in equity.

2.22 Government grant

Government grants are recognised at their fair value when there is a reasonable assurance that the grant will be received and company will comply with all attached conditions.

Government grants relating to income are deferred and recognised in the statement of profit and loss over the period necessary to match them with costs that they are intended to compensate and presented within other income.

Government grants relating to purchase of property, plant and equipment are initially recognised as deferred income at fair value and subsequently recognised in the statement of profit and loss on a systematic basis over the useful life of the asset.

REPORT ON THE AUDIT OF THE CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Kinetic Engineering Limited (hereinafter referred to as the 'Holding Company') and its subsidiaries (the Holding Company and its subsidiaries together referred to as the 'Group'), which comprise the Consolidated Balance Sheet as at March 31, 2026, and the Consolidated Statement of Profit and Loss (including Other Comprehensive Income), the Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows for the year ended on that date, and notes to Consolidated financial statements, and a summary of the significant accounting policies and other explanatory information (hereinafter referred to as "Consolidated financial statements").

In our opinion and to the best of our information and according to the explanations given to us, the aforesaid consolidated financial statements give the information required by the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") in the manner so required and give a true and fair view in conformity with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, of the consolidated state of affairs of the Group as at March 31, 2026, their consolidated profit including other comprehensive income, their consolidated cash flows and the consolidated statement of changes in equity for the year ended on that date.

Basis for Opinion

We conducted our audit of the Consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Standards on Auditing (SAs) specified under section 143 (10) of the Companies Act, 2013. Our responsibilities under those Standards are further described in the Auditor's Responsibilities for the audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with the code of ethics issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements under the provisions of the Act and the rules made thereunder, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the ICAI's code of ethics.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the Consolidated Financial Statements.

Key Audit Matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements for the financial year ended 31 March 2026. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Information other than the Consolidated Financial Statements and Auditors' Report thereon

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the preparation of the other information. The other information comprises the information included in the Management Discussion and Analysis, Board's Report including Annexures to Board's Report, Business Responsibility and Sustainability Report, Corporate Governance and Shareholder's Information, but does not include the consolidated financial statements, standalone financial statements and our auditor's report thereon.

Our opinion on the consolidated financial statements does not cover the other information and we do not express any form of assurance conclusion thereon.

In connection with our audit of the consolidated financial statements, our responsibility is to read the other information and, in doing so, consider whether the other information is materially inconsistent with the consolidated financial statements or our knowledge obtained during the course of our audit or otherwise appears to be materially misstated.

If, based on the work we have performed if we conclude that there is a material misstatement of this other information we are required to report that fact. We have nothing to report in this regard.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Financial Statements

The Company's Board of Directors is responsible for the matters stated in Section 134(5) of the Companies Act, 2013 ("the Act") with respect to the preparation of these financial statements that give a true and fair view of the consolidated balance sheet, consolidated profit and loss statements and consolidated statement of cash flows of the Group in accordance with the accounting principles generally accepted in India, including the Accounting Standards specified under Section 133 of the Act read with the Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015, as amended. This responsibility also includes maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding of the assets of the Group and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the consolidated financial statements that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, which have been used for the purpose of preparation of the Consolidated Financial Statements by the Directors of the Company, as aforesaid.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, the respective Board of Directors of the company included in the Group are responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group are also responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process of the Group.

Auditor's Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional scepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Companies Act, 2013, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the company has adequate internal financial controls system in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit of the financial statements of such entities included in the consolidated financial statements of which we are independent Auditors.

Materiality is the magnitude of the misstatements in the Consolidated Financial Statements that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the Consolidated Financial Statements may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in-

- I. planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the results of our work; and
- II. to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the Consolidated Financial Statements.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

Report on Other Legal and Regulatory Requirements

“ANNEXURE A” TO INDEPENDENT AUDITOR’S REPORT

(Referred to in paragraph 2 (f) under the heading ‘Report on other legal and regulatory requirements’ of our report of even date.)

Report on the Internal Financial Controls under Clause (i) of Sub-section 3 of Section 143 of the Companies Act, 2013 (the ‘Act’)

In conjunction with our audit of the consolidated financial statements of Kinetic Engineering Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as the ‘Holding Company’) as of and for the year ended 31st March 2026, we have audited the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements of the Holding Company and its subsidiaries (the Holding Company and its subsidiaries together referred to as ‘the Group’), which are companies incorporated in India, as of that date.

Management’s Responsibility for Internal Financial Controls

The respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group, which are companies incorporated in India, are responsible for establishing and maintaining internal financial controls based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Holding Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI). These responsibilities include the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls that were operating effectively for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to the respective company’s policies, the safeguarding of its assets, the prevention and detection of frauds and errors, the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, and the timely preparation of reliable financial information, as required under the Act.

Auditors’ Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company’s internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with the Guidance Note on Audit of Internal Financial Controls Over Financial Reporting (the ‘Guidance Note’) and the Standards on Auditing, specified under section 143(10) of the Act, to the extent applicable to an audit of internal financial controls, both, issued by ICAI. Those Standards and the Guidance Note require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether adequate internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements were established and maintained and if such controls operated effectively in all material respects.

Our audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the adequacy of the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements and their operating effectiveness. Our audit of internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements included obtaining an understanding of internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. The procedures selected depend on the auditors’ judgement, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained and the audit evidence obtained by the other auditors in terms of their reports referred to in the Other Matters paragraph below, is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion on the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements.

Meaning of Internal Financial Controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements

A company’s internal financial control with reference to consolidated financial statements is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company’s internal financial control with reference to consolidated financial statements includes those policies and procedures that

1. pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company;
2. provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorisations of management and directors of the company; and
3. provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorised acquisition, use, or disposition of the company’s assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Inherent Limitations of Internal Financial Controls with reference to Consolidated Financial Statements

Because of the inherent limitations of internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements, including the possibility of collusion or improper management override of controls, material misstatements due to error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projections of any evaluation of the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements to future periods are subject to the risk that the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

Opinion

In our opinion, the Group, which are companies incorporated in India, have, maintained in all material respects, adequate internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements and such internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements were operating effectively as at 31 March 2026, based on the internal control over financial reporting criteria established by the Holding Company considering the essential components of internal control stated in the Guidance Note issued by the ICAI.

Other Matters

Our report under Section 143(3)(i) of the Act on the adequacy and operating effectiveness of the internal financial controls with reference to consolidated financial statements of the Holding Company, so far as it relates to one subsidiary, which is incorporated in India, is based on the corresponding reports of the auditors of such subsidiary. The Holding Company did not have any associate company incorporated in India and did not exercise joint control over any entity incorporated in India.

Note - 1 : The Corporate Overview

Kinetic Engineering Limited ("the company") is a public limited company domiciled in India and incorporated under the provisions of Indian Companies Act. The Registered Office of the Company is situated at D-1 Block, Plot No. 18/2, MIDC, Chinchwad, Pune. The company's ordinary shares are listed on the Bombay Stock Exchange.

The company is engaged in the manufacturing and supply of automotive components. The company caters to both domestic and international markets.

Note - 2 : Significant Accounting Policies

2.1 Statement of compliance

The financial statements of the company comply in all material aspects with Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) notified under Section 133 of Companies Act, 2013 (the Act) [Companies (Indian Accounting Standards) Rules, 2015] and other relevant provisions of the Act.

The financial statements were authorised for issue by the Board of Directors at it's meeting held on 29th May 2026.

2.2 Basis of preparation

The financial statements have been prepared on a historical cost basis, except certain financial instruments and defined benefit plans, which are measured at fair value.

2.3 Basis of Consolidation

The Consolidated financial Statements incorporate the financial statements of the Company, its subsidiary, being entity that it controls. Control is evidenced where the Group has power over the investee or is exposed, or has rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the investee and has the ability to effect those returns through its power over the investee. Power is demonstrated through existing rights that give the ability to direct the relevant activities, which significantly affect the entity returns.

The Consolidated financial Statements include results of the subsidiary Company, consolidated in accordance with ind AS 110 (Consolidated Financial Statements) and Ind AS 28(Investment in Associates and Joint Ventures).

2.4 Functional and presentation currency

These financial statements are presented in Indian Rupees (INR), which is the company's functional currency. All amounts have been rounded-off to the nearest Lakhs, unless otherwise stated.

2.5 Significant accounting judgments, estimates and assumptions

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with Ind AS requires the management to make judgments, estimates and assumptions which affect the reported amounts of revenue, expenses, current assets, non-current assets, current liabilities, non-current liabilities and disclosure of the contingent liabilities at the end of each reporting period. Actual estimates may differ from these estimates.

Detailed information about each of these estimates and judgements is included in relevant notes.

The areas involving critical estimates and judgements are:

Estimation of current tax expense and payable – Note 14

Estimation of defined benefit obligation – Note 19 & Note 25

Recognition of revenue – Note 26

Recognition of deferred tax assets for carried forward tax losses – Note 6

Useful lives of property, plant and equipment – Note 3 & Point 2.9 under significant accounting policies

Estimation and underlying assumptions are reviewed on an ongoing basis. Revisions to accounting estimates are recognised in the period in which the estimate is revised and future periods affected.

2.6 Current versus non-current classification

The company presents assets and liabilities in the balance sheet based on current / non-current classification.

An asset is current when:

It is expected to be realised or intended to be sold or consumed in normal operating cycle;

It is held primarily for the purpose of trading;

It is expected to be realised within twelve months after the reporting period; or

It is cash or cash equivalent unless restricted from being exchanged or used to settle a liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period.

All other assets are classified as non-current.

A liability is current when:

It is expected to be settled in normal operating cycle;

It is held primarily for the purpose of trading;

It is due to be settled within twelve months after the reporting period; or

There is no unconditional right to defer the settlement of the liability for at least twelve months after the reporting period
All other liabilities are classified as non-current.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are classified as non-current assets and liabilities.

2.7 Revenue recognition

Effective April 1, 2018, the Company has applied Ind AS 115 which establishes a comprehensive framework for determining whether, how much and when revenue is to be recognised. Ind AS 115 replaces Ind AS 18 Revenue and Ind AS 11 Construction Contracts. The standard is applied by the company prospectively and the comparative information in the statement of profit and loss is not restated – i.e. the comparative information continues to be reported under Ind AS 18 and Ind AS 11. The impact of the adoption of the standard on the financial statements of the Company is insignificant.

Revenue is recognised upon transfer of control of promised products or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration which the Company expects to receive in exchange for those products or services.

Revenue is measured based on the transaction price, which is the consideration, adjusted for volume discounts, service level credits, performance bonuses, price concessions and incentives, if any, as specified in the contract with the customer. Revenue also excludes taxes collected from customers.

Dividend income is recorded when the right to receive payment is established. Interest income is recognised using the effective interest method.

Export benefits in the form of Duty Draw Back/ Merchandise Exports Incentive Scheme(MEIS) claims are recognised in the statement of profit and loss on receipt basis.

2.8 Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. However, materials and other items held for use in the production of inventories are not written down below cost, if the finished products in which they will be incorporated are expected to be sold at or above cost. Cost is ascertained on a weighted average basis.

Cost of raw materials, components, stores and spares comprises cost of purchases. Cost of work-in-progress and finished goods comprises direct materials, direct labour and an appropriate proportion of variable and fixed overhead expenditure, the latter being allocated based on normal operating capacity. Cost of inventories also includes all other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition.

Net realisable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less estimated costs of completion and the estimated costs necessary to make the sale.

2.9 Property, plant and equipment (PPE)

Recognition and measurement

Property, plant and equipment are stated at cost comprising of purchase price and any initial directly attributable cost of bringing the asset to its working condition for its intended use, less accumulated depreciation (other than freehold land) and impairment loss, if any. Borrowing costs directly attributable to the construction of a qualifying asset are capitalised as part of the cost.

When parts of an item of property, plant and equipment have different useful lives, they are accounted for as separate items (major components) of property, plant and equipment.

Subsequent costs

The cost of replacing a part of an item of property, plant and equipment is recognised in the carrying amount of the item if it is probable that the future economic benefits embodied within the part will flow to the company and its cost can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of the replaced part is derecognised. The costs of the day-to-day servicing of property, plant and equipment are recognised in the statement of profit and loss as incurred.

Disposal

The gain or loss arising on disposal of an item of property, plant and equipment is determined as the difference between sale proceeds and carrying value of such item, and is recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

Depreciation

Depreciation is calculated over the depreciable amount, which is the cost of an asset, or other amount substituted for cost, less its residual value.

On PPE acquired on or before 31st March 2000: Depreciation is recognised in the statement of profit and loss on a written down value basis over the estimated useful lives of each part of an item of property, plant and equipment as prescribed in Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013, as assessed by the management of the company based on technical evaluation.

On PPE acquired after 31st March 2000: Depreciation is recognised in the statement of profit and loss on a straight line basis over the estimated useful lives of each part of an item of property, plant and equipment as prescribed in Schedule II of the Companies Act, 2013, as assessed by the management of the company based on technical evaluation.

Freehold land is not depreciated.

The property, plant and equipment acquired under finance leases is depreciated over the shorter of the lease term and their useful lives unless it is reasonably certain that the company will obtain ownership by the end of the lease term.

The estimated useful lives for main categories of property, plant and equipments are:

Category	Useful life
Building	30 to 60 years
Plant and Machinery	15 to 25 years
Electrical installation and Fittings	10 years
Dies, Jigs & Fixtures	10 to 15 years
Furniture and Fixtures	8 to 10 years
Office Equipments	3 to 5 years
Vehicles	8 to 10 years

2.10 Intangible assets

Recognition and measurement

Intangible assets are recognised when the asset is identifiable, is within the control of the company, it is probable that the future economic benefits that are attributable to the asset will flow to the company and cost of the asset can be reliably measured.

Expenditure on research activities is recognised in the statement of profit and loss as incurred. Development expenditure is capitalised only if the expenditure can be measured reliably, the product or process is technically and commercially feasible, future economic benefits are probable and the company intends to and has sufficient resources to complete development and to use or sell the asset.

Subsequent measurement

Subsequent expenditure is capitalised only when it increases the future economic benefits embodied in the specific asset to which it relates.

Amortisation

Amortisation is calculated over the cost of the asset, or other amount substituted for cost, less its residual value. Amortisation is recognised in statement of profit and loss on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of intangible assets from the date that they are available for use, since this most closely reflects the expected pattern of consumption of the future economic benefits embodied in the asset.

The estimated useful lives are as follows:

Asset	Useful life
Software	4 Years

2.11 Investment property

Property that is held for long-term rental yields or for capital appreciation or both, and that is not occupied by the company, is classified as investment property.

Investment property is measured at cost less accumulated depreciation.

2.12 Impairment of tangible and intangible assets

Property, plant and equipment and intangible assets with finite life are evaluated for recoverability whenever there is any indication that their carrying amounts may not be recoverable. If any such indication exists, the recoverable amount (i.e. higher of the fair value less cost to sell and the value in-use) is determined on an individual asset basis unless the asset does not generate cash flows that are largely independent of those from other assets. In such cases, the recoverable amount is determined for the cash generating unit (CGU) to which the asset belongs.

If the recoverable amount of an asset (or CGU) is estimated to be less than its carrying amount, the carrying amount of the asset (or CGU) is reduced to its recoverable amount. An impairment loss is recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

An impairment loss in respect of goodwill is not reversed. For other assets, an impairment loss is reversed only to the extent that the asset's carrying amount does not exceed the carrying amount that would have been determined, net of depreciation or amortisation, if no impairment loss had been recognised.

2.13 Foreign currency transactions and balances

Transactions in foreign currency are recorded at exchange rates prevailing at the date of transactions. Exchange differences arising on foreign exchange transactions settled during the year are recognised in the statement of profit and loss of the year.

Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies which are outstanding, as at the reporting period are translated at the closing exchange rates and the resultant exchange differences are recognised in the statement of profit and loss.

Non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies that are measured in terms of historical cost are translated using the exchange rate at the date of the transaction.

2.14 Employee benefits

Short-term employee benefits

Employee benefits payable wholly within twelve months of rendering the service are classified as short-term employee benefits and are recognised in the period in which the employee renders the related service. A liability is recognised for the amount expected to be paid when there is a present legal or constructive obligation to pay this amount as a result of past service provided by the employee and the obligation can be estimated reliably.

Defined contribution plans

Contributions to defined contribution plans are recognised as expense when employees have rendered services entitling them to such benefits.

Defined benefit plans

The employees' gratuity scheme is a defined benefit plan. The present value of the obligation under such defined benefit plans is determined based on actuarial valuation using the projected unit credit method, which recognises each period of service as giving rise to additional unit of employee benefit entitlement and measures each unit separately to build up the final obligation.

The obligation is measured at the present value of the estimated future cash flows. The discount rates used for determining the present value of the obligation under defined benefit plans, is based on the market yields on government securities as at the reporting date, having maturity periods approximating to the terms of related obligations.

Remeasurements, comprising of actuarial gains and losses, the effect of the asset ceiling, excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability and the return on plan assets (excluding amounts included in net interest on the net defined benefit liability), are recognised immediately in the balance sheet with a corresponding debit or credit to retained earnings through other comprehensive income (OCI) in the period in which they occur. Remeasurements are not reclassified to the statement of profit and loss in subsequent periods.

In case of funded plans, the fair value of the plan's assets is reduced from the gross obligation under the defined benefit plans, to recognise the obligation on net basis.

When the benefits of the plan are changed or when a plan is curtailed, the resulting change in benefits that relates to past service or the gain or loss on curtailment is recognised immediately in the statement of profit and loss. Net interest is calculated by applying the discount rate to the net defined benefit liability or asset. The company recognises gains/ losses on settlement of a defined plan when the settlement occurs.

Compensated absences

The liabilities for earned leave are not expected to be settled wholly within twelve months after the end of the reporting period in which the employees render the related service. They are therefore measured as the present value of expected future payments to be made in respect of services provided by employees up to the end of the reporting period using the projected unit credit method as determined by actuarial valuation. The benefits are discounted using the market yields at the end of the reporting period that have terms approximating the terms of the related obligation. Remeasurements as a result of experience adjustments and change in actuarial assumptions are recognised in the statement of profit and loss. The obligations are presented as current liabilities in the balance sheet if the entity does not have an unconditional right to defer settlement for at least twelve months after the reporting period, regardless of when the actual settlement is expected to occur.

Termination benefits

Termination benefits are expensed at the earlier of when the company can no longer withdraw the offer of those benefits and when the company recognises costs for a restructuring. If benefits are not expected to be settled wholly within 12 months of the reporting date, then they are discounted.

2.15 Leases

The determination of whether an arrangement is (or contains) a lease is based on the substance of the arrangement at the inception of the lease. The arrangement is, or contains, a lease if fulfilment of the arrangement is dependent on the use of a specific asset or assets and the arrangement conveys a right to use the asset or assets, even if that right is not explicitly specified in an arrangement.

Company as a lessee

A lease is classified at the inception date as a finance lease or an operating lease. A lease that transfers substantially all the risks and rewards incidental to ownership to the company is classified as a finance lease.

Finance leases are capitalised at the commencement of the lease at the inception date fair value of the leased asset or, if lower, at the present value of the minimum lease payments. Lease payments are apportioned between finance charges and reduction of the lease liability to achieve a constant rate of interest on the remaining balance of the liability. Finance charges are recognised in finance costs in the statement of profit and loss.

A leased asset is depreciated over the useful life of the asset. However, if there is no reasonable certainty that the company will obtain ownership by the end of the lease term, the asset is depreciated over the shorter of the estimated useful life of the asset and the lease term.

Operating lease payments are recognised as an expense in the statement of profit and loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term unless the payments to the lessor are structured to increase in line with expected general inflation to compensate for the lessor's expected inflationary cost increases or another systematic basis is available.

Company as lessor

Leases in which the company does not transfer substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of an asset are classified as operating leases. Rental income from operating lease is recognised on a straight-line basis over the term of the relevant lease unless the payments to the lessor are structured to increase in line with expected general inflation to compensate for the lessor's expected inflationary cost increases or another systematic basis is available. Initial direct costs incurred in negotiating and arranging an operating lease are added to the carrying amount of the leased asset and recognised over the lease term on the same basis as rental income. Contingent rents are recognised as revenue in the period in which they are earned.

Leases are classified as finance leases when substantially all of the risks and rewards of ownership transfer from the company to the lessee. Amounts due from lessees under finance leases are recorded as receivables at the company's net investment in the leases. Finance lease income is allocated to accounting periods to reflect a constant periodic rate of return on the net investment outstanding in respect of the lease.

2.16 Borrowing costs

Borrowing costs consist of interest and other costs that an entity incurs in connection with the borrowing of funds. Borrowing cost also includes exchange differences to the extent regarded as an adjustment to the borrowing costs.

Borrowing costs directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of a qualifying asset that necessarily takes a substantial period of time to get ready for its intended use or sale are capitalised during the period of time that is required to complete and prepare the asset for its intended use or sale. All other borrowing costs are expensed in the period in which they are incurred.

2.17 Income tax

Income tax expense comprises current and deferred tax. It is recognised in the statement of profit and loss except to the extent that it relates to a business combination, or items recognised directly in equity or in OCI.

Current tax

Current tax assets and liabilities are measured at the amount expected to be recovered from or paid to the taxation authorities. The tax rates and tax laws used to compute the amount are those that are enacted, at the reporting date in the country where the company operates and generates taxable income. Current tax assets and liabilities are offset only if there is a legally enforceable right to set off the recognised amounts and it is intended to realise the asset and settle the liability on a net basis or simultaneously.

Minimum Alternate Tax (MAT) paid in a year is charged to the statement of profit and loss as current tax. The company recognises MAT credit available as an asset only to the extent that there is convincing evidence that the company will pay normal income tax during the specified period, i.e., the period for which MAT credit is allowed to be carried forward. The company reviews the 'MAT credit entitlement' asset at each reporting date and writes down the asset to the extent the company does not have convincing evidence that it will pay normal tax during the specified period.

Deferred tax

Deferred tax is provided using the balance sheet method on temporary differences between the tax base of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts for financial reporting purposes at the reporting date.

Deferred tax liabilities are recognised for all taxable temporary differences, except:

When the deferred tax liability arises from the initial recognition of goodwill or an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss;

Taxable temporary differences arising on the initial recognition of goodwill.

Deferred tax assets are recognised for all deductible temporary differences, the carry forward of unused tax credits and any unused tax losses. Deferred tax assets are recognised to the extent that it is probable that taxable profit will be available against which the deductible temporary differences, and the carry forward of unused tax credits and unused tax losses can be utilised, except:

When the deferred tax asset relating to the deductible temporary difference arises from the initial recognition of an asset or liability in a transaction that is not a business combination and, at the time of the transaction, affects neither the accounting profit nor taxable profit or loss.

The carrying amount of deferred tax assets is reviewed at each reporting date and reduced to the extent that it is no longer probable that sufficient taxable profit will be available to allow all or part of the deferred tax asset to be utilised. Unrecognised deferred tax assets are re-assessed at each reporting date and are recognised to the extent that it has become probable that future taxable profits will allow the deferred tax asset to be recovered.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured at the tax rates that are expected to apply in the year when the asset is realised or the liability is settled, based on tax rates (and tax laws) that have been enacted or substantively enacted at the reporting date.

Deferred tax assets and deferred tax liabilities are offset if a legally enforceable right exists to set off current tax assets against current tax liabilities and the deferred taxes relate to the same taxable entity and the same taxation authority.

Deferred tax relating to items recognised outside profit or loss is recognised outside profit or loss. Deferred tax items are recognised in correlation to the underlying transaction either in OCI or directly in equity.

2.18 Financial instruments

Financial assets and liabilities are recognised when the company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the instrument. Financial assets and liabilities are initially measured at fair value. Transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition or issue of financial assets and financial liabilities (other than financial assets and financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss) are added to or deducted from the fair value measured on initial recognition of financial asset or financial liability.

The Company derecognises a financial asset only when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the asset expire, or when it transfers the financial asset and substantially all the risks and rewards of ownership of the asset to another entity. The Company derecognises financial liabilities when, and only when, the Company's obligations are discharged, cancelled or have expired.

Cash and cash equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid financial instruments, which are readily convertible into known amounts of cash that are subject to an insignificant risk of change in value and having original maturities of three months or less from the date of purchase, to be cash equivalents. Cash and cash equivalents consist of balances with banks which are unrestricted for withdrawal and usage.

Financial assets at amortised cost

Financial assets are subsequently measured at amortised cost if these financial assets are held within a business whose objective is to hold these assets in order to collect contractual cash flows and the contractual terms of the financial asset give rise on specified dates to cash flows that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding.

Financial assets at fair value through other comprehensive income

Financial assets are measured at fair value through other comprehensive income if these financial assets are held within a business whose objective is achieved by both collecting contractual cash flows on specified dates that are solely payments of principal and interest on the principal amount outstanding and selling financial assets.

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets are measured at fair value through profit or loss unless they are measured at amortised cost or at fair value through other comprehensive income on initial recognition. The transaction costs directly attributable to the acquisition of financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are immediately recognised in statement of profit and loss.

Financial liabilities

Financial liabilities are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method.

Equity instruments

An equity instrument is a contract that evidences residual interest in the assets of the company after deducting all of its liabilities. Equity instruments issued by the Company are recognised at the proceeds received net of direct issue cost.

Offsetting of financial instruments

Financial assets and financial liabilities are offset and the net amount is reported in the balance sheet if there is a currently enforceable legal right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis, to realise the assets and settle the liabilities simultaneously.

Impairment of financial assets

The company applies expected credit loss (ECL) model for measurement and recognition of impairment loss on the assets carried at amortised cost and FVTOCI debt instruments. The impairment methodology applied depends on whether there has been a significant increase in credit risk. Note 35 details how the company determines whether there has been a significant increase in credit risk.

For trade receivables only, the company applies the simplified approach permitted by 'Ind AS 109 - Financial instruments', which requires expected lifetime losses to be recognised from initial recognition of the receivables.

2.19 Fair value measurement

For the purpose of fair value disclosures, the Company has determined classes of assets and liabilities based on the nature, characteristics and risks of the asset or liability and the level of the fair value hierarchy as;

Level 1 - Quoted (unadjusted) market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

Level 2 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is directly or indirectly observable.

Level 3 - Valuation techniques for which the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement is unobservable.

The company uses valuation techniques that are appropriate in the circumstances and for which sufficient data is available to measure fair value, maximizing the use of relevant observable inputs and minimizing the use of unobservable inputs.

2.20 Provisions and contingencies

A provision is recognised when the company has a present obligation as a result of past event and it is probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation, in respect of which a reliable estimate can be made. These are reviewed at each balance sheet date and adjusted to reflect the current best estimates.

Contingent liabilities are disclosed when there is a possible obligation arising from past events, the existence of which will be confirmed only by the occurrence or non-occurrence of one or more uncertain future events not wholly within the control of the Company or a present obligation that arises from past events where it is either not probable that an outflow of resources will be required to settle the obligation or a reliable estimate of the amount cannot be made. Contingent assets are neither recognised nor disclosed in the financial statements.

2.21 Earnings per share (EPS)

Basic earnings per share is computed by dividing profit or loss attributable to equity shareholders of the Company by the weighted average number of equity shares outstanding during the year.

2.22 Cash dividend to equity holders

The company recognises a liability to make cash distributions to equity holders when the distribution is authorised and the distribution is no longer at the discretion of the company. As per the corporate laws in India, a distribution is authorised when it is approved by the shareholders. A corresponding amount is recognised directly in equity.

2.23 Government grant

Government grants are recognised at their fair value when there is a reasonable assurance that the grant will be received and company will comply with all attached conditions.

Government grants relating to income are deferred and recognised in the statement of profit and loss over the period necessary to match them with costs that they are intended to compensate and presented within other income.

Government grants relating to purchase of property, plant and equipment are initially recognised as deferred income at fair value and subsequently recognised in the statement of profit and loss on a systematic basis over the useful life of the asset.
